

Recruiting Black Men into Education

- 1. Importance of Representation: Black men constitute only 1.3% of teachers in U.S. public schools, yet diversity in educators plays a crucial role in shaping students' perspectives and improving their educational outcomes.
- 3. Recruiting Volunteers and Mentors: Mentors and volunteers can bridge the cultural and educational gaps that exist in our schools, making education more inclusive and impactful.
- 4. Pathway to Education Careers: Volunteering and mentoring provide valuable experience and insight into the education field, acting as stepping stones for those considering a career in education.

Building Strong Foundations: The Role of Black Fathers in Education

- 1. Active Engagement: Black fathers' active engagement in their children's education can significantly improve their academic performance, behavior, and social skills.
- 2. Positive Influence: Fathers' involvement can foster positive attitudes towards education, resulting in higher attendance rates, improved grades, and increased likelihood of pursuing higher education.
- 3. Role Modeling: Black fathers serve as powerful role models, shaping their children's values, self-perception, and understanding of masculinity.
- 4. Community Building: Engaging Black fathers in schools can foster a sense of community, encouraging a supportive and inclusive educational environment.

References

1. U.S. Department of Education. (2016). The State of Racial Diversity in the Educator Workforce. Retrieved from <https://www2.ed.gov/rschstat/eval/highered/racial-diversity/state-racial-diversity-workforce.pdf>
2. Martino, W., & Kehler, M. (2007). Gender-based literacy reform: A question of challenging or recuperating gender binaries. Canadian Journal of Education, 30(2), 406-431.
3. Dee, T. (2007). Teachers and the Gender Gaps in Student Achievement. Journal of Human Resources, 42(3), 528-554.
4. McBride, B. A., Dyer, W. J., Liu, Y., Brown, G. L., & Hong, S. (2009). The differential impact of early father and mother involvement on later student achievement. Journal of Educational Psychology, 101(2), 498.
5. Downer, J. T., & Mendez, J. L. (2005). African American father involvement and preschool children's school readiness. Early Education and Development, 16(3), 317-340.